

Person Specification – MPGD Trainer

Any person wishing to undertake the role of an MPGD trainer will need to have the following personal attributes and skills.

Personal Attributes

- Honesty
- Credibility with the trainees, peers, senior management
- Self motivation
- Ability to work with others to attain goals
- Fairness and firmness
- Ability to perform assessments without bias, conflict of interest, self-gains or vested interest in the training outcome.

Communication Skills

- Interact effectively with industry tradespersons
- Follow established lines of communication when dealing with organisations
- Clarify and present information in a succinct and meaningful manner
- Listen to and understand others
- Interpret and explain industry-specific terms
- Have the ability to receive and deliver communication in a non-judgmental manner.

Technical Skills

- Preferably hold the appropriate qualification(s) for the area they will be teaching
- Be competent in adult teaching
- Have previous relevant industry experience and current knowledge in the skill area they are teaching.